Dear Steve Knight,

I am writing to you because I have become aware of the petition letter that you and fourteen other California Republican State Assemblymen and State Senators signed petitioning amnesty for millions of illegal aliens that are living in the United States.

It is important that you understand that there is nothing more disastrous to American workers than the income depressing effects that millions of illegal workers have on our labor markets, especially to our most vulnerable workers such as young adults and unemployed and underemployed Americans.

I am also keenly aware of the threat that amnesty for millions of illegal aliens will have on the Republican Party and to the two party system in our country. It is a widely know and accepted fact that the vast majority of amnestied illegal aliens will become Democrat voters once they are given legal status, and that is precisely why virtually all Democrat party politicians support amnesty.

While there are many topics that I can agree with you on and many reasons I could support your candidacy for Congress, I regret to inform you that it will be impossible for me to support you in the up coming election unless you withdraw your name from the disastrous amnesty petition that you signed.

If you would like to earn my support I highly recommend that you withdraw your name from the amnesty petition that you signed. The majority of Republican voters of the 25th district strongly oppose any form of legalization (amnesty) of illegal immigrants, and we expect our representative in Washington to reflect this common held position.

Sincerely,

Tony Strickland

Dear Tony Strickland,

Illegal immigration is one of the greatest problems affecting our country, and a problem that Californians face on a daily basis.

There is no greater issue facing our country and American workers than the negative effects caused by illegal immigration. Illegal immigration depresses the incomes of American workers and especially hurts young adults and unemployed and under employed Americans.

I am writing to you because, it seems that you have not made your position on illegal immigration and your position about the legalization of illegal aliens (amnesty) clear.

As a Republican from California it seems remarkable, even strange to me that you do not share one word about this problem on your web site. It almost seems like you are avoiding this subject.

It's even stranger to me that during this current crisis in which tens of thousands of illegal aliens cross into the United States through the Texas / Mexico border, you remain silent. It also does not go unnoticed that the Mid East terrorist group ISIS has openly declared it's intention to send terrorist into our country, and one can only wonder why ISIS would not cross our porous Southern border, just like millions of other illegal aliens do regularly?

President Obama currently threatens to issue more unconstitutional executive orders to offer amnesty to millions of illegal aliens and as far as I know the only comment you offer about this is more silence. I can only add that your silence is in fact a major red flag that only makes me suspicious that you may be quietly supportive of open borders and amnesty for illegal aliens.

I would also like to know what actions you would take if any, if President Obama issues an executive order granting amnesty to illegal aliens.

To clarify your position on immigration I would recommend that you take the Numbers USA Candidate survey, so we could better understand you position on this crucial issue.

The issue of illegal immigration is a hot topic for Republican voters of the 25th District and if you would like to earn my support in the up coming election I highly recommend that you make your position clear on this subject. I will be keenly watching to see if it reflects the interests of American workers and my own.

Sincerely,

We, the undersigned California State legislative Republicans, strongly support federal comprehensive immigration reform and urge our state Republican Congressional delegation to encourage Speaker John Boehner to call a vote on immigration reform.

Components should include thoughtful and strong border security, employer sanctions, and opportunity for undocumented residents to earn their way to full citizenship, but only behind those who have applied to become citizens through the current citizenship process.

There is no policy debate more important to the future of California and America than passing comprehensive immigration reform. By providing legal clarity to the status of millions of people in California, we can spur an economic renaissance, solidify families, and create an entirely new population of full taxpayers, many of whom who have strong entrepreneurial and work ethics.

We stand with the business community, the labor community, farmers, manufacturers, communities of faith, and most importantly Californians, in our call for Congress to act on reform this year to put this challenge behind us as a state and nation. We strongly urge House Republicans to demand a vote.

While some members in Congress may not support the legislation, every member deserves the opportunity to vote. We understand that members have divergent views on reform, but this is the time to address the many serious issues immigrants and their employers face every day.

This group of Republican legislators is asking our friends in business, labor and agriculture, who work with these immigrants in their fields, homes and factories every day to join us in asking Congressional Leaders to "Call the Vote."
